To Whom So Ever It May Concern

I have interacted with Gitanj Sheth in relation to business and project-related discussions.

Gitanj demonstrated an impressive ability to understand complex information, break a problem into manageable components and evaluate alternative solutions.

His engineering and technology background gives him a strong foundation for understanding technical matters, while his analytical approach enables him to connect those matters with commercial and organisational objectives.

I found his approach professional, methodical and outcome-oriented.

I would confidently recommend Gitanj for assignments involving business analysis, strategy, technology and complex problem-solving.
